

On September 9th visit one of seven participating local dairies and learn why raw milk tastes so good and why it's so good for you! Meet your farmers and their cows, and get to know where your food comes from.

For directions and descriptions of the farms, please visit the NOFA/Mass Raw Milk Program webpage www.nofamass.org/programs/organicdairy/rawmilk.php or contact Kate Rossiter at (413) 625-0118, krossiter@nofamass.org.

6. Sidehill Farm

137 Beldingville Rd
Ashfield, MA 01330
(413) 625-0011
paul@sidehillfarm.net

Sidehill Farm will offer a two-hour guided tour beginning at 2:00 pm, including visits to pastures, the town's oldest milking parlor, and their unusual facilities—a milk room built into a step van and a yogurt plant in a semi trailer. Come early and have a picnic lunch, and stay later for samples of their raw milk and yogurt.

7. Upinngil Farm

411 Main Road
Gill, MA 01354
(413) 863-2297
pickens@crocker.com

Upinngil Farm will give tours of their dairy, farm pastures, vineyard and berry patches. Fall raspberry picking will be available and the honey house will have educational displays and an observation hive. Bring a picnic lunch and enjoy a sampling of products—cheeses, honeys, jams, maple syrup and baked products from their grains.
