

OCTOBER 19, 2015

CARTOONS FROM THE OCTOBER 26, 2015, ISSUE

BY THE NEW YORKER

“Look, I’m no scientist, and I may not know what ‘consensus’ means, but I think we should all start eating coal.”

The New Yorker offers a signature blend of news, culture, and the arts. It has been published since February 21, 1925.